

In a tradition of the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be on him) it is related that the first ten days of Ramadan bring Allah's mercy, the middle ten days His forgiveness and the last ten days save one from the fire of Hell.

FORGIVENESS

Forgiveness is also linked to Allah's mercy. The Promised Messiah (as) explained that Allah says that I forgive the sins of one who repents even if the sins are the 'size of mountains'. Hadhur (Khalifat-ul-Masih V) said when Allah is so forgiving in ordinary times then during Ramadhan His mercy must shower down.

Allah forgives past sins, when we are truly sorry about the bad deeds we have committed. Hadhur (Khalifat-ul-Masih V) that this does not mean that we do 'ISTIGHFAR' (Ask for forgiveness) only in the days of Ramadhan but must continue to ask forgiveness of Allah constantly, as Satan is always ready to tempt us into doing bad deeds and following the wrong path.
